The novel coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic is an unprecedented humanitarian challenge that will continue to evolve. It is affecting nearly every aspect of modern life, including businesses around the globe. Your employees' and their family members' safety and well-being are top of mind for you ... and for Graebel.

Whether they are relocating or repatriating, your employees will likely face unfamiliar challenges such as government-imposed quarantines upon entry into a country or region. We have worked closely with our partners to develop a program that provides a range of services to care for your employees and their families facing challenges nearly anywhere in the world.

As always, the Graebel Partner Alliance network stands ready to offer localized support for your mobile employees faced with extraordinary and urgent needs.

The Graebel Partner Alliance network can arrange for emergency services, medical support and other local services including:

Temporary living for quarantine situations, complete with family care packages to help keep everyone occupied

Food Provision – a two-week initial reserve and ongoing restocking as needed, based on pre-identified dietary requirements

Transportation coordination to/from the airport to the quarantine residence

Local services, in-person or virtual as available, including, but not limited to:

- Ongoing phone support with local updates
- Unplanned or emergency needs
- Teletherapy and telemedicine for individuals and families
- Laundry service
- Pet assistance (e.g. dog walking, etc.)
- In-house medical services – doctor visits, nursing, elder care, special needs support

Our partners span 165 countries. They are nimble and committed to help raise the service bar amid your unique challenges and to deliver creative and relevant solutions for your employees and their families.
