Trusted Partners

COVID-19 has heightened our awareness of sanitization. Health experts say that the virus will continue to be a threat long after the pandemic officially ends. We'll all need to continue to be vigilant about the air we breathe and the surfaces we touch for the foreseeable future.

As you relocate your employees in the weeks and months ahead, reassure them that your company is taking extra steps to protect their health.

Graebel now offers expanded move-in and move-out cleaning procedures in the United States, the United Kingdom and Canada. In addition to standard cleaning services for surfaces, floors and appliances, we're offering an upgraded sanitization process for high-touch areas and items. Using top grade cleaning materials, the team of professionals follows local and national sanitation guidelines.

The service includes:

- Complete disinfection of countertops, appliance knobs, doorknobs, light switches, tabletops, handrails, toilets and similar spots
- The use of approved disinfecting products that remain on surfaces for up to 20 minutes to ensure effectiveness – and then re-wiping these surfaces to remove residue
- Optional carpet cleaning, appliance deep cleaning and interior/exterior window cleaning

When one of your valued employees accepts a relocation opportunity, they're counting on your duty of care in many areas – including protecting their health. The Move-In Cleaning service is proof positive that you take their safety seriously, and it's another way we strive to offer exceptional service.

A world of opportunity awaits your valuable talent. Contact us to learn more about this important health-protection service that will help keep your employees healthy and productive from the start.
